West Windsor, NJ, April 20, 2022— SEASON OPENING

Year nineteen is upon us!

It's all about local food and seasonality at the West Windsor Farmers Market! This year's season kicks off on May 7th and running every Saturday from 9:00am-1:00pm, the market will be filled with local farmers and artisan food producers, including a knife sharpener, all from within fifty miles of West Windsor to celebrate the bounty of New Jersey.

This season's roster includes nearly fifty farms and vendors, several with a rotating schedule, including a baker under the new NJ Cottage Rule.

Grocery shopping and a Saturday morning outing has never been more pleasurable than in the open-air marketplace. Find everything from Jersey Fresh produce, artisan cheese and dairy products, beer, wine and spirits, curries, jams, chutneys, microgreens, mushrooms, sustainably caught seafood, grass-fed/pastured meats and poultry, farm fresh eggs, honey, teas, coffee, locally grown oats, fresh pasta and sauces, vegan chocolates and prepared foods, Lebanese salads and sweets, alpaca fiber wear, spice blends, naturally leavened breads and baked goods, plus gluten-free baked offerings, and locally grown flowers. Food trucks include savory and sweet crepes, fresh juices, smoothies, acai bowls and egg sandwiches, plus vegan breakfast and lunch selections.

Opening day music with Ed Goldberg Klezmer. Fresh food drive with volunteers from Yes, We CAN to benefit Arm in Arm food pantries of Princeton and Trenton.

Market Manager, Chris Cirkus notes, "We are so excited to kick off our nineteenth year of creating a festive food space for folks who value locally grown, raised and produced food. There's always something for everyone in the community at our farmers market!"
